1 INT. BLACK SPACE - DAY 5

On BLACK, bring up CAPTION:

THE LAST DAY

Picture fuzzes, static, like a cheap camcorder. Cutting to IMAGES from sc.5/67-77. With horizontal lines visible, pale colours, CU snatches of TV FOOTAGE. Without sound.

SOLDIERS. Carrying CHILDREN.

PARENTS in the doorways of their houses, screaming, being held back by more soldiers.

CU on the KIDS, being carried, terrified.

5/51, kids on a COACH, trapped, scared, banging on the glass, crying for help.

All of these IMAGES intercut with GWEN. In darkness. Grim. Facing camera. Like she's making a final statement:

GWEN

There's one thing I always meant to ask Jack. Back in the old days. I wanted to know about that Doctor of his. The man who appears out of nowhere and saves the world, except sometimes he doesn't. All those times in history, when there's no sign of him, I wanted to know, why not? But I don't need to ask, any more. I know the answer now.

(pause)

Sometimes the Doctor must look at this planet and turn away in shame.

Picture fizzes, STATIC. Then CUT TO GWEN, closer to CAMERA, now more urgent, holding a bedraggled, scared MICA.

GWEN (CONT'D)

I'm recording this. In case anyone ever finds it. So you can see. You can see how the world ended.

They listen a bit more, then:

DAVID

I don't wanna go to school.

RHIANNON

You're not going, either. You're staying put, just like your Uncle Ianto said, don't trust any of 'em.

MICA

The man says we've gotta go.

RHIANNON

And I know for a fact, he's lying. David! On your feet! Go to the Baxter's opposite, then go to Sally's, and go to Mrs Singh, tell them we'll have the kids, just like before. Only free of charge.

JOHNNY

It's ten quid a kid!

RHIANNON

Shut it you, and get round to Big Val's, I'll go round Cromwell Court.

BRIAN GREEN

Well you wrote it.

10

DENISE RILEY (CONT'D)

At this precise moment, all major motorways, and air services, and seaports, will be closed.

BRIAN GREEN

What if they refuse? The soldiers. We could have a mutiny on our hands.

GENERAL PIERCE

They've been told: any soldier refusing to do his duty, will make his own family liable.

BRIAN GREEN

God, you're ready for this.

GENERAL PIERCE

Clearly, you were not.

DENISE RILEY

So we take them to the rendezvous points... but what then?

GENERAL PIERCE

We're about to find out. They're entering Thames House, right now.

CUT TO:

11 INT. THAMES HOUSE LOBBY - DAY 5

11

COLONEL ODUYA steps in. The place is now weirdly silent, deserted, echoing, except for UNIT SOLDIERS on guard. Oduya wary, as MR DEKKER walks up to him.

MR DEKKER

Disinfectant doesn't work. You can still smell it. There were bodies piled up ten deep around those doors.

COLONEL ODUYA

Mr Dekker, I take it? You managed to survive.

MR DEKKER

I just stood back, sir. A strategy that's worked all my life. Now then. Best not keep it waiting.

Inside, the 456 stirs, in its smoke.

INTERCUT WITH DOWNING STREET, BRIEFING ROOM A, Brian Green, General Pierce, Denise Riley & aides watching.

COLONEL ODUYA

I seek audience with the 456. My name is Colonel Augustus Oduya of the Unified Intelligence Taskforce. If I might speak?

No reply. Deep breath, he continues:

COLONEL ODUYA (CONT'D)

First, I must ask that under the peacetime conventions of this planet, that the viral attack of last night is not repeated. Can I have that guarantee?

THE 456

We were kind.

COLONEL ODUYA

I'm sorry..? In what way?

THE 456

We were kind.

Dekker steps forward (as ever, strangely enjoying himself).

MR DEKKER

I think it means... if you'll excuse me, sir. But the virus was designed to expire within seven hours of exposure to the air. They're saying it could have been a lot worse.

Nasty little hissss from the 456; could be laughter.

COLONEL ODUYA

We have no choice but to initiate your plan. May God help me. But I need to ask... We have designated rendezvous points.

CUT TO BRIEFING ROOM A, as suddenly, every terminal screen blinks, then shows the 3/79 & 3/81 FX SHOTS -

GENERAL PIERCE

Some sort of transportation device. Taking them God-knows-where.

CUT BACK TO FLOOR 13. Oduya controlling his anger, but:

COLONEL ODUYA

Then let me ask... not as a representative. As a father. You need these children, we've seen you hooked up to that boy, but why? Are they keeping you alive?

THE 456

No.

COLONEL ODUYA

Then what are they for?

THE 456

The hit.

COLONEL ODUYA

I don't understand.

THE 456

BRIAN GREEN
They're trading in drugs.

DENISE RILEY
Jesus. They get high. On kids. We're just a cocaine farm.

CUT TO FLOOR 13. Oduya upset, quiet, close to tears.

COLONEL ODUYA
And that's all you need them for?
That's it? You're shooting up on children? Our children?

And the 456 rears up! The terrible screeching! In victory!

It keeps rising and falling, screaming, as Colonel Oduya turns, walks from the room. Disgusted. Defeated.

CUT TO:

13 INT. DOWNING STREET, BRIEFING ROOM A - DAY 5

CAPTAIN JACK

Then let Gwen tell her. She can go under police escort, if you want. But you said it yourself, the world is going to hell, any second now. Before it does... give us one moment of grace.

FROBISHER

...I suppose.

MISS SPEARS

Transport's impossible. From twelve o'clock midday, the motorways are under military control.

CAPTAIN JACK

Then find some other way. Just take Gwen home. Please.

They look; Gwen's a good distance away, now sitting on the floor, still on her mobile, crying.

FROBISHER
Terrible day.

Silence.

FROBISHER (CONT'D)
I was wondering, sir, whether I might -

BRIAN GREEN
Your name was chosen, John.

FROBISHER
Right. Good. In what way..?

BRIAN GREEN
The inoculation story seems to have gained some currency. It might even be called popular. A great deal of people seem to believe that their children can be vaccinated against this problem.

FROBISHER
Indeed. And what's that got to do with me?

BRIAN GREEN
Your children will be inoculated.

FROBISHER
...I see.

FROBISHER

...but there is no inoculation.

BRIAN GREEN

This action will help the public. And show them no cause for unrest.

FROBISHER

You mean, I pretend they're going to be inoculated..?

BRIAN GREEN

Your children will then be taken to one of the designated rendezvous points. And they will become part of the... process.

Absolute silence.

Hold. Frobisher just staring; his world collapsing.

Then:

BRIAN GREEN (CONT'D)

It's our duty now, to think of the future. To look ahead. Beyond this terrible day. And once this is over, the government must be seen to be victims of the 456. We must be seen to have lost.

FROBISHER

...but you can't. I won't. I will not, sir. They're children.

BRIAN GREEN

The car's waiting outside.

FROBISHER

FROBISHER

But you've seen what they do to them! They're girls, sir, they're just girls, they...

But the enormity of it overwhelms him. Barely coherent:

FROBISHER (CONT'D)

They're not... they're not, they're... I'm not... I wasn't...

And all the others came and went. The high flyers. They burnt out, or went on to something better, but d'you know what John Frobisher did? He kept working. Head down. Worked hard. All his life.

Frobisher hurries the girls through the downstairs, saying, 'Just go upstairs now girls, go into Lilly's room, just go and wait there, and daddy will come up in a minute,' and Lilly's saying, 'I want to go round to Emma's' and Holly's saying, 'I want to watch TV,' but he keeps saying, 'Just go upstairs, mummy and daddy will come up in a minute, off you go, that's it, good girls.'

And Anna keeps watching him.

It was another ten years before we actually worked in the same office. He asked for me. I didn't think he even knew my name.

Girls now gone, Anna asking, 'What's wrong, what is it? John, tell me, what's wrong?' But he just keeps saying, 'Just go upstairs, sweetheart, I'll explain everything, please, just go upstairs.'

And we made quite the team! I'm not saying he was perfect. You'd know that, better than me.

Anna close to him now, scared, her head against his, and he kisses her, again and again, saying 'Go upstairs, just go upstairs, please go upstairs.'

But he worked hard, he always worked hard, I don't think that's valued enough, these days. Hard work.

Anna upset, goes upstairs, to be with the girls.

And now, alone, downstairs, John Frobisher opens his briefcase, and takes out the metal box.

MISS SPEARS (CONT'D)

But he was a good man. I want you to know that. John Frobisher was a good man.

He opens the metal box. Inside, a gun.

MISS SPEARS (CONT'D)

Because when the history of this is written... They'll talk about the ministers and the soldiers and things with numbers for names. And I think people will forget. How very good he was.

And now, John Frobisher is walking up the stairs. Finally, he's crying. Shaking. A man at the edge of the world. But still holding the gun.

I want you to remember him like that. If ever you think of John Frobisher. Just remember that it wasn't his fault.

In the upstairs hallway, looking into Lilly's room: the girls are on the bed, Lilly hitting Holly with a pillow, both laughing. But Anna is standing back, in dread, watching the doorway.

As John Frobisher walks in.

A glimpse of terror on his wife's face, but only for a second, as he gently closes the door behind him.

Slowly pulling back from the door...

Three shots sound.

Pause.

Then a fourth.

Back in the cell, Bridget sits there in silence.

Lois staring at her.

Hold the silence. Then:

MISS SPEARS (CONT'D)

Now. I think I should get back to work.

In the corridor: Miss Spears walks out of the cell, down the corridor. The policeman locking up behind her.

Her footsteps echoing away.

P.C. ANDY

P.C. ANDY

Well that proves my point!

Nearing the house; she's saved this for last, mutters:

GWEN

Stay on Gwen, while behind her:

P.C. ANDY

RHIANNON

They're not even paying, so it can't be illegal, right?

P.C. ANDY

I know, it's not about the kids, I just need a word, if we could..?

ALICE

Not much good now, are you? Even if 90% looks the other way... what sort of country will be left behind?

JOHNSON

Exactly.

Alice looks at her. Studies her. Realising, now:

ALICE

That's why you're telling me all this. It's not about me, is it?
(right at her, fierce)
But you're right. You're absolutely right. My father could help.

JOHNSON

In what way?

ALICE

I've spent all my life running away from him, because he's dangerous, and he's dangerous because he'll do anything to win. Anything. I swear to you. If your duty is to protect the state, above and beyond any other authority... Then the one man you need right now is Jack Harkness.

Sorry.

GWEN

Silence. Just Rhiannon crying.

GWEN (CONT'D)

There's something else. Something he'd want me to tell you. And I'm sorry, but it's kind of urgent -

RHIANNON

You can get out.

GWEN

No, but... I knew Ianto. Properly. I worked with him for years.

JOHNNY

Come on now, leave her alone.

GWEN

But I did. I really did. We were a team. We did... all these things together. And he made such a fuss about his bloody coffee, yeah?

RHIANNON

(laughs)

Yeah!

JOHNSON
We haven't got time.

Jack's marched on. Alice looks round -

The SECRETARY from sc.33 is there, Alice quickly bundles

And then she runs after Jack.

Can you hear me?

No reply, he keeps trying in b/g, while -

RHYS

Where's this place?

RHIANNON

It's the old lido, down by the fields, it's all boarded up.

GWEN

We've got to go, right now.

Gwen, Rhys, Rhiannon herding kids towards the back door - stop nagging, and go.

And he gives her a big, strong, fast kiss. Then runs round the front of the house. Rhiannon upset, but to the others:

RHIANNON

This way.

And Rhiannon leads the way. The adults shushing and hushing, leading the kids away from the house at an angle that can't be seen from the roadblock on the main road.

He sees SOLDIERS beginning to move.

They're splitting up into groups of three, approaching houses near the roadblock. Knocking at the door.

Andy spins round, hearing JOHNNY behind him - Johnny's running out from the side of his house - ignoring Andy, he's running across the road, yelling out -

JOHNNY

Danno! Where's Richie? Go and get him, get Sammy, get all the boys, can't you see them?!

He's calling to a BLOKE in amongst a group of NEIGHBOURS - people are now stepping out of their doors to look at the Denise walks on, busy elsewhere.

Then, unnoticed in the busy room, Bridget stands still. Looks at BRIAN GREEN, far across the room. He's watching this whole thing like a helpless victim.

Bridget just watches him. Carefully.

CAPTAIN JACK

MR DEKKER

I know what you're trying to do. A constructive wave. D'you think people aren't working on that, all over the world? But it's never gonna work, the effect would be like shouting at the 456. That's all. Just shouting.

But CU on Jack. Lost in thought.

Realising...

Very quiet:

CAPTAIN JACK

JOHNSON

It was the 456. They killed him.

Johnson going to a second terminal, typing in codes -

JOHNSON

We've got the recording here -

CAPTAIN JACK

His mind must have sync'd with the 456, back when he was a child - but they didn't need to kill him, he wasn't any threat... Unless maybe that connection hurt them!

JOHNSON

This is the 456 at the moment of his death - we've lifted the sound from the Thames House link -

Her screen now playing the Briefing Room A POV of Floor 13, at the moment Clem died - the screeching noise -

CU on those images - WHITE FLASH, FLASHBACK -

From STATIC to CAMCORDER FOOTAGE. Gwen, as sc.1, to camera; the BLACK SPACE is the darkness of the lido interior.

GWEN

There's one thing I always meant to ask Jack. Back in the old days. I wanted to know about that Doctor of his. The man who appears out of nowhere and saves the world, except sometimes he doesn't. All those times in history, when there's no sign of him, I wanted to know, why not? But I don't need to ask, any more. I know the answer now.

(pause)

Sometimes the Doctor must look at this planet and turn away in shame.

But this time, play only the first line as camcorder footage. After that, as Gwen talks, CUT AROUND the room:

To see RHYS, holding the camcorder.

One by one, on various KIDS, dotted around the space. All a bit grimy now. All with solemn, wide eyes.

Sitting in the dirt.

In the dark.

RHIANNON crying, quietly, just hugging DAVID & MICA.

Speech over, Rhys lowers the camcorder. Hands it back to one of the kids, who brought it in his little rucksack.

He goes to Gwen, and they hug. Whispered, intense:

RHYS

You didn't mean it though - ?

GWEN

- course I didn't -

RHYS

GWEN

And they're both crying.

And Jack turns to look at Alice too. In agony.

ALICE

MR DEKKER
Centre of the resonance... Oh, that kid's gonna fry.

Silence. Alice realising. Stepping back.

ALICE
No. Dad. Tell them, no.

JOHNSON
One child. Or millions.

ALICE

DENISE RILEY

Bit too soon to tell. We don't know exactly what happened, yet.

BRIAN GREEN

Lucky with the Americans, I mean. General Pierce took charge without ratification from the United Nations. We can say that today's events were in American hands.

MISS SPEARS

And you think that's lucky?

BRIAN GREEN

I do, rather.

MISS SPEARS

Your first thought now, is to save your own skin?

Bridget walks forward. So in control.

MISS SPEARS (CONT'D)

In which case. You might like to know... I paid a visit this morning, sir. I went to see Lois Habiba. You might remember her. I sat with her awhile. We had a number of things to discuss.

On CU Bridget, WHITE FLASH, FLASHBACK -

MISS SPEARS (CONT'D)

And while I was there, I used the emergency protocols. To sign out a particular piece of evidence.

WHITE FLASH, FLASHBACK -

CUT TO:

129 CONTINUED:

129

DENISE stepping forward. Rising to power:

DENISE RILEY

I don't think so.
Thank you, Bridget, you're free to go.
And Miss Habiba will be released, I'll see to it myself. I think I'll be taking charge of very many things, in the days to come. Is that all, sir?

BRIAN GREEN

...yes.

DENISE RILEY

Thank you, sir.

MISS SPEARS

Best of luck.

And both women walk from the room.

Hold on Green, left alone, defeated, in the empty space.

CUT TO:

130 INT. ASHTON DOWN, LONG, LONG CORRIDOR - DAY 5

130

CAPTAIN JACK sits alone.

Then he looks up.

Far down the corridor, ALICE appears.

Time has passed; the blood has been cleaned off her face.
But she just looks at Jack. Not forgiving him. Never.

Hold the stare.

Then she turns; walks down the corridor. Away from Jack.

He watches her go.

Then stands.

He walks in the opposite direction.

The far end of the corridor is flooded with natural white light. Jack walks towards the light. Becoming defocused, as he walks. Until he's just a blur. And then even the blur vanishes, leaving only the light.

CUT TO:

131 EXT. HILLSIDE - NIGHT 6

131

WHITE FLARE of a HEADLIGHT filling frame.

It's RHYS's car, pulling up on a dirt track, halfway up a hillside. As he gets out:

RHYS

There's no road, we'll have to walk from now on. You all right?

As GWEN gets out, her bump now visible, 6 months pregnant.

GWEN

If you fuss over me, one more time!

RHYS

Just saying!

GWEN

Well don't!

And they head up the hillside.

CUT TO:

132 EXT. TOP OF HILLSIDE - NIGHT 6

132

The lights of CARDIFF glittering below.

GWEN huffing and puffing, as they near the top, RHYS now giving her a hand, and she's grateful for it.

And she sees him first...

CAPTAIN JACK.

Standing on top of the world.

They walk towards him.

GWEN

Couldn't just choose a pub or something, could you?

RHYS

It's bloody freezing. My feet!

CAPTAIN JACK

Oh I've missed that. The Welsh, complaining.

132 CONTINUED:

132

Gwen & Rhys stop, still a good way from him. But with an intimacy now, despite the distance.

CAPTAIN JACK (CONT'D)

You look good.

GWEN

I look huge.

RHYS

She's bloody gorgeous.

Pause. Then, tentative:

GWEN

...you okay?

CAPTAIN JACK

Yeah.

GWEN

Did it work?

CAPTAIN JACK

Travelled all sorts of places. But this planet is too small.

(pause)

It's like the whole world is a graveyard.

Gwen walks forward a little, Rhys staying where he is.

GWEN

Come back with us.

CAPTAIN JACK

I haven't travelled far enough, yet.
Got a lot of dirt to shake off my shoes.
And right now...

He looks up, Gwen & Rhys look up too...

FX: TINY GLINT OF STARLIGHT, in the sky.

There's a cold-fusion cruiser just surfing the ion reefs at the edge of the solar system. Waiting to open its transport dock. I just need to send a signal...

Which means: hand it over. Gwen digs in her pocket, gets out Jack's wriststrap. A little battered, but intact.

GWEN

They found it in the wreckage.
Indestructible. Like its owner. I put on a new strap.

She throws it to him, he catches it. As he puts it on:

RHYS

Cost fifty quid, that did.

CAPTAIN JACK

Bill me.

GWEN

Are you ever coming back?

CAPTAIN JACK

What for?

GWEN

For me.

CAPTAIN JACK

(laughs)
Damn. Good reason.

GWEN

(laughs)
The best!

CAPTAIN JACK

If you need me. Then I will.

GWEN

What do I do? Whistle?

CAPTAIN JACK

Just watch the sky. If ever you need me, Gwen Cooper: just look up and watch the sky.

She's starting to cry, now:

GWEN

It wasn't your fault.

CAPTAIN JACK

I think it was. Steven. And Ianto.
And Owen, and Tosh, and Suzie, and all of them. Because of me...

GWEN

But you saved us.

132

CAPTAIN JACK

Maybe I've done too much of that. I began to like it, and look what I became. Still. I've had so many lives. It's time to find another one.

He presses a button on his wriststrap, looks up:

FX: up above, the STAR FLARES.

FX: JACK haloed by a beautiful, shifting glow.

GWEN

They died, Jack. And I'm sorry. But you can't just run away.

CAPTAIN JACK

Oh yes I can. I can run forever. You just watch me.

FX: JACK DISSOLVES into the GLOW.

FX: SHINING PARTICLES lift upwards...

FX: and he is gone.

Gwen & Rhys left in the dark.

She's crying. Rhys goes to her. Holds her. And end just nice and close and intimate, on these two:

RHYS

Let's go home.

GWEN

Yeah.
